

Lewis-Clark Valley 2021

Riesling

What we can we say about the 2021 growing season, other than it was memorable. Hot, dry, and then hot and dry some more. Not surprisingly growing wine grapes in 2021 was a challenge, considering growing anything that summer was, least to say, discouraging. Harvest commenced at least two weeks ahead of normal and ended by October 1st. Crop yields were roughly 45% below normal – not great for the library but it did allow for quick harvesting to maintain flavors and reasonable sugar levels. Our 2021 Riesling is off-dry, or just slightly sweet. On the nose you might find white peach, nectarine, and the scent of fresh spring rain. On the palate the wine offers tart apple and stone fruit flavors.
